About ICS

The International Composites Summit (ICS) is a high-impact event dedicated to advanced composite materials, technologies, and applications. Designed to connect key stakeholders across the global supply chain, ICS offers a focused, high-value environment for knowledge exchange, collaboration, and business development.

Returning on 1–2 December 2026 at The Drum at Wembley, London, ICS has become a vibrant forum that drives innovation, attracts investment, and supports the growth of a sustainable, competitive composites industry. With global innovators, industry leaders, and agile SMEs in attendance, ICS creates meaningful opportunities to shape the future of materials technology.

From aerospace and automotive to marine, construction, and energy, ICS showcases the latest advancements and highlights the strategic role of composites in enabling cleaner, smarter, and more resilient solutions.

"A focused event with the right people in the room. High-quality conversations, strong leads, and real opportunities to move business forward."

Will Goss
Goss Engineering Solutions

"ICS is a great conference with quality content, offering those in attendance the opportunity to learn about technical innovations and the issues that face the composite industry."

Marcy Offner
Women in the Composites Industry

ICS 2025: Connecting Industry Leaders Worldwide

ICS 2025 marked a significant evolution in the event's format and positioning. Hosted in a new London venue, the show transitioned towards a more conference-led experience, attracting senior decision-makers, OEMs, and industry leaders from across the global composites and advanced engineering sectors.

This shift strengthened the quality of engagement, creating a platform focused on insight, collaboration, and strategic conversation rather than traditional exhibition presence.
